WON ALL THE GAMES

Tarboro Victors in Each of the Series With Athletic Association Team.

SCORE YESTERDAY 14 TO 6.

The First Two or Three Innings of Yesterday's Game Especially Interesting. During Last Innings Wilmington's Team Went to Pieces.

The series of three games of base ball between the Tarboro and the Wilmington Athletic Association teams has been played, the last being on the Hilton Park diamond yesterday afternoon, and Tarboro is the victor in the entire series, Wilmington not having won either of the three games. The Wilmington team and the association by whom they are backed have the gratification however of knowing that during the series of games they have made it possible for admirers of good ball to see some of the very best playing witnessed here in years.

Of the three games with Tarboro the score yesterday shows by far the biggest odds against Wilmington, being 14 to 6. The scores in the other two games were, Thursday, 5 to 3, and Friday 6 to 1.

The crowd yesterday afternoon, while it was very good, was not so large as on the two first afternoons and is to be accounted for most probably by the fact that Tarboro, having already won the best two out of three games, the people suspected that there would be much less inspiration for either side to play good ball. Nevertheless, while the big odds in the score would indicate a tame game, it was certainly not so slow as some might suspect, there having been a number of brilliant plays on both sides.

The game was called promptly at 4.30 o'clock with Wilmington at the bat and Mr. W. F. Robertson umpire.

It was during the first two innings that Wilmington scored her runs making three in each, the grand stand spectators the while rending the air with uproarious cheers and giving vent to their enthusiasm in well nigh the wildest enthusiasm imaginable.

Person was first to the bat. He knocked a ball into left field and made second base. Bernig followed to the bat and sent the ball double quick over center field, reaching third base and scoring Person. Brunson came to the bat and sent a ball over third base. He ran to second base and scored Bernig. Taylor batted to short stop, who fumbled, allowing Brunson to score and Taylor to reach second base. The two remaining batters for Wilmington fanned out, and Tarboro went to the bat. Glaven was struck out. Meade knocked a ball over center field and made second base. Luskey knocked a ball to short stop, Brinig, who made a pretty catch and put out Luskey on first. Phillips hit to Johnson at second and was put out on first.

The second inning was even more interesting than the first. Levy was the first of the Wilmington team to the bat. He knocked the ball to the left field and made first base. Alston batted to the right field, where Fenner fumbled, allowing Alston to make first base. Person knocked the ball over center field, Alston and Levy advancing one bag each. Brinig came to the bat, knocked a left fielder, scoring Levy and Alston and making second Johnson, J., batted left field and by slide made second and scored Brinig. Brunson batted to the left field, where Spencer fumbled the ball, allowing Johnson to make third base and Brunson to make second. Johnson was put out in attempting to make the home plate, thus closing Wilmington's half of the second inning, the last in which they made a score.

Throughout the remainder of the game Tarboro seemed to gain strength and the Wilmington go to pieces rapidly. Kenna, Tarboro's pitcher, began to twirl such puzzlers that the Wilmington batters could not find but very few, and when they attempted to make runs the fates were against them, every man dying on base. On the other hand the Tarboro boys batted several beautiful two and three baggers and even made two home runs, both the latter by Meade, who, by the way, played the best base ball yesterday that has been seen here during the whole series.

In the third inning Meade and Glavin scored runs for Tarboro. Neither team scored in the fourth, but in the fifth there were five runs for Tarboro. They were made by Glavin, Meade, Luskey, Kenna and Spencer. The last-named also scored in the sixth inning. There was no score in the seventh inning, but in the eighth and last inning Tarboro piled up eight runs, greatly to the disgust of the spectators who felt chagrined at the way in which the Wilmington team went to pieces after making such a brilliant start in the two first innings.

In the sixth inning Sweeney succeeded Person in the box for Wilmington, Person going on the right field and Sanders retiring from the game.

The score by innings, the line-up and the summary were as follows:

| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | — |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Tarboro | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 5 | 1 | 0 | 6 | —14 |
| Wilmington | 3 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 6 |

OFFICIALLY NOTIFIED YESTERDAY MORNING.

Mis Darby Received News of Her Appointment From Washington — Mr. Struthers May be Assistant.

Miss Mary C. Darby, the new appointee to the Wilmington postmastership, received official notification of her appointment to the position yesterday morning together with a bond in the sum of $50,000 which she is instructed to execute and send to the department as early as possible.

From best information obtainable yesterday it was learned that Miss Darby would easily find surety among her friends in the city to the amount required and that it is very probable that Postmaster Chadbourn will retire as early as to-morrow week and Miss Darby immediately assume control of the affairs of the office.

The postmastership under a second class rating has been paying Postmaster Chadbourne $2,900 per annum, but beginning August 1, the office was advanced to first class and so long as the receipts will justify the same it will remain first class with the salary of the postmaster $3,000 per year—only $100 more than under the second rating.

Local Republicans do not appear jubilant over the appointment. While they do not base their objections to Miss Darby personally, there appears to be an undercurrent of sentiment favoring the appointment of men only to positions of this character. They easily concede her competency but it is obvious that they want the office as a reward for some political service during the campaign.

Miss Darby says she has nothing to say yet as to whom she will name for Assistant Postmaster, but it is generaly believed that Mr. Wm. Struthers will be the appointee. Mr. Wallace, the present incumbent, will succeed Mr. F. B. Rice at the Custom House about September 1st, if the latter decides to accept permanently the hull inspectorship for the Charleston district, a contest over which he has just ended with Capt. Gannon.

Who will be the new money order clerk is as yet a matter of speculation.

ONE HUNDRED EXTRA LABORERS.

Wanted by City to Do Drainage Work On South Sixth Street.

The Board of Health held a special meeting yesterday afternoon to consider the matter of relieving the unsanitary condition of a pond of surface water, which has accumulated by reason of excessive rains near the Second Advent Church on South Sixth street.

At the meeting were present Mayor A. M. Waddell, chairman, Capt. W. R. Kenan, Dr. F. H. Russell, Acting City Engineer W. F. Robertson, Dr. W. D. McMillan, Superintendent of Health, and Alderman Taylor of the Streets and Wharves Committee.

Upon motion of Capt. Kenan it was decided that the Superintendent of Streets be instructed to employ a force of hands sufficient to open the culvert which is intended to convey the water which has collected in the vicinity named.

Acting under these instructions Mayor Waddell and Alderman Taylor have advertised for one hundred able bodied laborers and six good brickmasons to report at the City Hall to the Superintendent of Streets at noon to-day, in order that the work may begin promptly on to-morrow morning.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.

Becky Claridy, Colored, Charged With Stealing $6 From a White Man.

C. S. Riggs, an East Wilmington man, last night at police headquarters preferred charges of larceny against Becky Claridy, a well known colored habitue of Racket Store alley.

The prosecutor says that about 11 o'clock last night the woman asked him to change some money for her, which he was doing by the light of the oil lamp in the alley, when a crowd came up and the Claridy woman snatched the money he had in his hand, amounting to about six dollars in silver coin, and ran off with it.

Officer J. M. King was called upon and the woman was found and carried to the city prison. In the hat which she was wearing when locked up an amount of money was found, which corresponds with that lost by Riggs.

The case will be investigated by Mayor Waddell to-morrow morning.

Dougald A. Lamont.

News was received in the city yesterday of the death of Mr. Dougald A. Lamont, an old Wilmington resident who has spent his declining years near Marlville, in Bladen county. His death occurred Friday night, of dropsy, at his home, near Marlville. He was 88 years of age, and will be buried at the family burying ground to-day.

About thirty years ago he was in the mercantile business here, and is well remembered by the older residents. He leaves a wife, who has the sympathy of friends in the loss she has suffered.

Governor has Sold His Residence.

Herbert McClammy, Esq., as attorney, yesterday consummated the sale of Governor Russell's residence property on Second between Dock and Orange streets. The negotiations have been in progress for several weeks, so it is learned, but not until yesterday was the trade made. Mr. Forney J. Gooding, foreman of the Hilton Lumber Company's plant, is the purchaser. The formal transfer will be made in a few days.

LAST WEEK AND THIS

Some Pleasant Eevnts Which Have Transpired and Others Yet to Be.

SEASHORE'S WEEK-END BALL

Club Frolics and Complimentary Receptions Last Week—Dances and Other Events for the Present Week. Wilmington Excursionists.

The past week in the city and on the beaches was especially notable for numerous large excursions which brought thousands of people from all parts of the State as well as for several notable social events to which reference has previously been made. The principal events were the frolics by the Atlantic and Carolina yacht clubs, the grand concert by the Second Regiment Band at Ocean View Hotel. The reception by Miss Tallulah DeRosset complimentary to Miss Milner, of Cartersville, Ga., and the usual week end ball at Seashore Hotel. The Seacoast train to the beach at 7.15 last night had five well filled coaches the greater portion of the crowd heading for the Seashore to share the pleasures of the dance which was fully as successful as those of previous weeks.

A large number of people arrived in the city and went to Wrightsville and Carolina Beaches yesterday from all parts of the State. Captain Harper, of the steamer Wilmington, told a member of the STAR staff that he carried as many or more strangers yesterday than on any Saturday of the season, the fact that there was no excursion considered. Oceanic Hotel, on Carolina Beach, is well filled with guests, and the two hotels, Seashore and Ocean View, on Wightsville Beach, are thronged with merry companies of guests.

It is really impossible to accurately forecast the events of this week. There will be club hops at the club houses and nightly dances at the hotels.

Captain Harper of the steamer Wilmington announces an excursion to Carolina Beach by the Fifth street Sunday School on Tuesday.

On Wednesday the Howard Relief Fire Engine company will run an excursion and give a big dance at Hanover Seaside club house at night. The Wilmington will make an excursion trip at 9:15 o'clock and again at 5:15 and 7:30 o'clock.

Tuesday night an excursion will arrive from Rutherfordton. The excursionists will go to Carolina Beach on the 6 A. M. boat Wednesday, stay until the boat arrives at the pier from the 9:15 trip when they will be taken on board for a trip to sea.

There will be another excursion from Selma via Fayetteville Friday. It will be run by J. A. Burnet and will go to Carolina Beach on the Wilmington. There will be music at the pavilion all day.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

St. Thomas' Church: First mass, 7 A. M.; last mass, 9 A. M.

The Rev. W. H. Tomlins, of Fayetteville, N. C., will officiate at St. James' Church, both at morning and evening service, to-day.

Services in St. John's Church to-day, tenth Sunday after Trinity, by the rector, Rev. Dr. Carmichael. Litany, sermon and holy communion, 11 A. M.

First Baptist Church, Rev. C. S. Blackwell pastor; 11 A. M., "Love's Easy Harness;" 8.15 P. M., "The Sinner's Attorney in the Last Court of Appeals;" 5 P. M., the B. Y. P. U., "Drifting" the subject, and Mr. Elmer Jones the leader.

St. Matthew's English Lutheran Church, North Fourth street above Bladen street, Rev. G. D. Bernheim pastor. Morning service at 11 o'clock; no services at night; Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. All seats are free and every person welcome.

The services at St. Paul's church, cor. Fourth and Orange to-day will be as follows: Morning prayer and sermon at 11 o'clock, Evening prayer at 9 o'clock. The night services will be discontinued during the month of August.

BY RIVER AND RAIL.

Receipts of Naval Stores and Cotton Yesterday.

W. & W. Railroad—16 casks spirits turpentine, 22 barrels rosin, 2 barrels tar, 4 barrels crude turpentine.

W. C. & A. Railroad—28 casks spirits turpentine, 149 barrels rosin, 60 barrels tar, 42 barrels crude turpentine.

A. & Y. Railroad—48 casks spirits turpentine, 48 barrels rosin, 27 barrels tar.

C. C. Railroad—12 casks spirits turpentine, 115 barrels rosin, 17 barrels tar.

Total—Spirits turpentine, 104 casks; rosin, 334 barrels; tar, 106 barrels; crude turpentine, 46 barrels.

The Quarantine.

There was nothing doing in the local quarantine situation yesterday. The officers are guarding closely all railroad approaches to the city and no fears are entertained that Wilmington will have even so much as a suspected case of the dread disease which has visited Hampton and Phoebus. No new officers have been appointed nor has any additional quarantine been established by the health authorities Chief Quarantine Officer Green returned yesterday morning from Goldsboro, where he went to have a conference with Officer Woebse who is on duty between that city and Rocky Mount. He says everything is working nicely and passengers on trains are inconvenienced camparatively little by the strict watch that is being maintained. Capt. Wiggins at Newbern, and Mr. A. J. Hill at Navassa, are still on duty.

CORPORATION COMMISSION.

Back Taxes On Rolling Stock to be Collected From Southern and S. A. L. More Storekeepers and Gaugers

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 5.

The colored State Fair will this year be held October 31 to November 3. This date was decided upon by the executive committee yesterday.

The Corporation Commission will be represented in the tax injunction case before Judge Simonton at Asheville by Judge Connor and by Simmons, Pou and Ward.

During absence of the Corporation Commission at the National Convention of Railroad Commissioners carpenters will tear out partitions in the commission's office, enlarging the rooms and making other improvements.

The Corporation Commission yesterday passed upon the question of levying back taxes on certain rolling stock of the Southern Railway and the Seaboard Air Line. As a result of the commission's decision, $781,755 worth of rolling stock are put on the tax books for one year back taxes. This is divided as follows: Southern, $118,390; Seaboard Air Line, $662,365.

Insurance Commissioner Young issues a circular in regard to incendiary fires, in which he calls attention to the provisions of "An Act to Provide for the Investigation of Incendiary Fires." Chapter 58, Laws of 1869."

Storekeepers and Gaugers.

Forty-eight more names of Republican storekeepers and gaugers have been returned to Collector Duncan, confirmed by the Secretary of the Treasury. These make 113 Republican storekeepers and gaugers appointed within the past week to take the places of Democrats thrown out under President McKinley's recent order suspending operations of the civil service law.

A big old-fashioned protracted meeting will begin to-morrow at Macedonia Methodist Church, near here. The people of the surrounding country will go out in vehicles and camp in tents and temporary booths. The meeting is expected to last two or three weeks.

To the Public.
The J. L. Hill Printing Co. announces that the canvass for names of the residence districts for their forthcoming City Directory of Wilmington will soon be completed. Their solicitors will shortly begin their canvass in the business part of the city. The work will be carefully and conscientiously done by men of many years experience, and the public are assured of a most worthy and useful publication. In view of this fact and that it has the substantial endorsement of many leading citizens, they respectfully ask the support of the merchants and professional men generally.
The public are also earnestly requested to notify us if any contemplated changes of residence, dissolution of firms or any other information in our line, which they desire should be properly presented, by sending same to our Wilmington manager, General Delivery.
Respectfully,
J. L. HILL PRINTING CO.

IF ONE WHY NOT THE OTHER?

The Philippine question has been so much and so ably discussed, that there is nothing new to be said on it. All the arguments for and against the war have been presented. But it continues to be discussed and will continue until the policy of force succeeds or is abandoned. There has of late been shown a disposition by some of the leading Republicans to deprecate the war and virtually apologize for it, but, say they, we are in it and how are we going to get out? There are few if any public men who discuss this whole question as well and none more pointedly, forcibly or logically than Wm. J. Bryan, who always says well what he wants to say. In the New York Independent this week he has an article, brief but comprehensive, in which he treats the question in its different aspects and answers the question, how are we to get out of it? He says:

"The Phillippine question is important because fundamental principles are involved in its discussion.

"There are two sources of government—force and consent. Monarchies are founded upon force, republics upon consent.

"The Declaration of Independence asserts that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, and this is the doctrine to which we have adhered for more than a century. It is the doctrine which has distinguished us from European countries, and has made our nation the hope of humanity. The Statue of Liberty in New York harbor typifies the nation's mission.

"If the doctrine set forth in the Declaration of Independence is sound, how can we rightfully acquire sovereignty over the Filipinos by a war of conquest? If the doctrine set forth in the Declaration of Independence is sound, how can we rightfully purchase sovereignty from a Spanish sovereignty whose title we disputed in Cuba and whose rebellion subjects we armed in the Philippines?

"In the resolution of intervention Congress declared that the Cubans were and of right ought to be free. Why? Because governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, and Spain had refused to respect the wishes of the Cubans. If the Cubans were and of right ought to be free, why not the Filipinos?

"In the beginning of the Spanish war Congress denied that our nation had any thought of extending its territory by war. If we then had no thought of securing by conquest new territory in the Western Hemisphere, why should we now think of securing in the Eastern Hemisphere new races for subjugation?

"An individual may live a double life when only one life is known. When both lives are known he can lead only one life, and that the worst. A republic cannot enter upon a colonial policy. It cannot advocate government by consent at home and government by force abroad. The Declaration of Independence will lose its value when we proclaim the doctrine familiar in Europe, but detestable here, that, governments are round in shape, about 13 inches in diameter and fired out of cannon.

"For more than a century this nation has been travelling along the pathway which leads from the low domain of might to the lofty realm of right, and its history has been without parallel in the annals of recorded time. What will be our fate if we turn backward and begin the descent toward forced conquest?

"It is not sufficient to say that the forcible annexation of the Philippine islands is a benevolent undertaking entered upon for the good of the Filipinos. Lincoln pointed out that this has always been the argument of kings. To use his words: 'They always bestrode the necks of the people, not that they wanted to do it, but because the people were better off for being ridden.'

"It is surprising that any believer in self-government should favor forcible annexation, but still more surprising how any one who believes in the Christian religion should favor the substitution of force for reason in the extension of our nation's influence.

"If we adopt the gunpowder gospel in the Philippines, how long will it be before that principle will be transplanted in American soil?

"So long as our arguments are addressed to the reason and the heart our progress is sure, but can we without danger to Christianity resort to the ancient plan of injecting religion into the body through bullet holes.

"The question is frequently asked, What can we do? Nearly two months elapsed between the signing of the treaty and the beginning of hostilities in the Philippines. During that time the President and Congress might have given to the Filipinos the same assurance of independence that was given to the Cubans. Such assurance would have prevented bloodshed. If the doctrine of self-government is sound, the Filipinos are entitled to govern themselves, and the President can now promise them independence as soon as a stable government can be established.

"If the President is not willing to take the responsibility of enforcing the doctrine set forth in the Declaration of Independence he can call Congress together and let it take the responsibility. A special session would be less expensive than the war, not to speak of the principles involved.

"Our nation is protecting the republics of South America from outward interference while they work out their destiny. We can extend the same doctrine to the Philippines, and, having rescued the inhabitants from a foreign yoke, we can guard them from molestation while they develop a republic in the Orient. They will be our friends instead of our enemies; we can send school teachers to Manila instead of soldiers, and the world will know that there is a reality in the theory of government promulgated at Independence Hall and defended by the blood of the revolutionary fathers."

There is not the slightest doubt that if the Washington Administration had foreseen the outcome of that $20,000,000 deal it would never have been made. We were lured into that entanglement by trickery and the grasping spirit, under false pretence. Having got in, the way to get out is not by backing out—no self-respecting American wants to see that—but by dealing honestly and candidly with the American people and with the Filipinos. If it be not the intention of the advocates of expansion to take possession of those islands by force, when peaceable possession is denied, to hold and control them for our own benefit, why not say so candidly and plainly? Such a declaration could not weaken us, but would make us stronger, for it would unite the American people while it would make the so-called insurgents weaker, for it would divide them.

If Mr. McKinley, in pursuance of his wretched policy of expansion by force, and powder and ball assimilation, can carry on war against a people on the other side of the globe without any declaration by Congress then he can tell the world candidly and honestly why we have an army in the Philippines, what it is there for and how long it is to be kept there. If it is not the intention to keep it there with the view to forcibly planting our flag over these people, why can't the administration which has already done so much on its own responsibility say so?

If Mr. McKinley hesitates to say so why can't he, as Mr. Bryan suggests, call on Congress to meet earlier than usual, lay the matter before it and let it, as representative of the people, relieve him from his embarrassment, and authoritatively declare what the purpose of this Government is? To be consistent Congress would be compelled to make substantially the same declaration for the Philippines that it made for Cuba. While there might be some there who might be disposed to question or doubt the sincerity of that declaration, as there are in Cuba, they would be few in comparison with those who would, as there are in Cuba. Trusting in that declaration we have found little trouble in controlling the Cubans and in preserving order in Cuba, and it would be the same way in the Philippines.

It is either that or brute force, involving the expenditure of many millions of dollars and the sacrifice of many lives, in an unnecessary and indefensible war, and that is better than brute force, for there is more common sense, more humanity and more statesmanship it. Honesty is not only the best policy in this case, but it is the only policy.

WHOOPING UP FOR THE GOLD STANDARD.

The Republican State Convention of Iowa, which met a few days ago, reaffirmed the following from its platform of last year:

"The monetary standard of this country and of the commercial world is gold. The permanence of this standard must be assured by Congressional legislation, giving to it the validity and vitality of public law. All other money must be kept at a parity with gold."

This means that the builders of that platform are not satisfied with practical recognition of the single gold standard by the U. S. Treasury, but insist on legislation which shall declare unequivocally for the gold dollar, and "outlaw," as some of the gold standard papers express it, the silver dollar. It followed up this declaration with the following:

"And we urgently call upon our Senators and Representatives in Congress to lend their best endeavors to enact these propositions into law."

Senator Allison is chairman of the Senate Finance committee. General Henderson will be Speaker of the House and this is virtually an order given to them to fall into line and do all they can to make gold the only legal, real money of this country. Senator Allison, while a gold man, has not been in favor of committing the country by pcsitive legislation so the single gold standard, because he does not think it politically expedient to do that. We do not know just where General Henderson stands on that question, but as he has had the habit of changing his views according to circumstances or contingencies, his position will probably be influenced by the conditions as they present themselves.

But this declaration by the convention may be taken as a notice served upon them that they are expected to get in line and hustle for gold as the only true and lawful legal tender money of this country. As the gold men control the Republican party this delaration will doubtless be echoed by other Republican State conventions.

A GOOD MOVEMENT.

Some of the railroad companies in Europe have adopted systems of life and accident insurance for their employes, and also pensions for those who have been long in the service, but there has been little if any of that done by the railroad companies in this country. But the Pennsylvania system, one of the greatest and best managed in this country, is leading in the pensioning movement, to which the Atlanta Journal refers as follows:

"The authorities of the Pennsylvania railroad have been considering this question for several years past and have finally determined to create a pension and superannuation fund for the benefit of their employes. It is understood that 70 years of age has been fixed as the age for compulsory retirement, and that employes who have been thirty years in the service, but who have not attained that age, will be entitled to the benefit of that fund upon the report of the committee which shall have the administration of its affairs. The pension allowance will be based upon length of service. It is estimated that it will require a payment by the company of abuot $300,000 per annum to make the fund effective. The preliminary arrangements are now being made, so that at the meeting in the fall definite action may be taken by the board of directors and the fund put into operation.

"The movement will not interfere in any way with the relief fund which the employes have long maintained for mutual benefit; it will not provide an additional source of relief in time of misfortune and another safeguard against want in old age.

"The proposition of the company to establish a pension and superannuation fund is received with great favor by the employes of the railroad and if it works as well as its promoters expect it will doubtless lead to the establishment of similiar fund by other large employes of labor."

Whether the authorities of this road be inspired by philanthropy or by business, this movement is good business, because it draws the men in the employment of the company closer to it, makes them better contented and more desirous of remaining with it, thus ensuring cheerful and efficient service. Men always work more cheerfully for employers who show an interest in them and some appreciation of their services.

It would be to some extent, too, a solver of the wage question and a preventer of strikes, for men will not for trifling causes turn against an employer who takes care of them when incapacitated by age or sickness for work. This is one of the ways to draw employers and employed together by mutual interest and it should be the rule where practicable instead of the exception.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— The opinion of Germany and Germany's ruler, attributed to Dewey by a New York Herald correspondent, would not have attracted much attention if it had not coincided with the public's idea of what Dewey would be likely to think on the subject.—Mobile Register, Dem.

— Alger's dismissal from the cabinet and the attempt to saddle him with the responsibility for the faults and failure of others, have increased his popularity in Michigan and made his way to the senate apparently easy. In attempting to slaughter Alger the administration seems to have ensured the defeat of Senator McMillan.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

— "Here is a grain of fact," says the New York Commercial Advertiser, "out of a bushel of rumors in relation to Chicago as a money centre. A bank of that city has just sent $1,500,000 to Texas to move the cotton crop. No such thing has occurred or even been thought of before. This is confirmation of the general belief in abundance of money in the interior and proof of willingness to use it in forwarding industrial operations at a distance." There does not appear, it will be noted, to be an abundance among the people who make the cotton. There never is, though they bring more money into the country than any other class of people in it. Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

TWINKLINGS.

I REMEMBER.

BY RICHARD REALF.

I remember—I remember
In the dying of the year,
When I used to pine and sicken
For a little human cheer;
How unto my crazy letters
Came her answers warm and true,
Quickening all the blood within me—
I remember—yes, I do.

I remember—I remember
When I reached my home once more
How I hurried through the city
'Till I stood before the door;
How I leaped along the stairway,
How the staring servant flew
With the messsge of the stranger—
I remember—Yes, I do.

I remember—I remember
How my foolish pulses shook,
When she met me in the parlor
With the old beloved look;
How my full eyes wet their lashes,
How it thrilled me through and through,
When her dark orbs beamed upon me—
I remember—yes, I do.

I remember—I remember
All our earnest poet talks,
All our mystic music dreamings,
Held in blessed city walks;
How we sat among the pictures
Which the prophet-painters drew;
And the speech of marble statues—
I remember—yes, I do.

I remember—I remember
How her sacred counselings
When across my moody nature
Like a sweep of angel wings;
All the fellowship she gave me,
All the peace that from it grew,
And the weary, weary parting—
I remember—yes, I do.

SUNDAY SELECTIONS.

— Every man who sells the truth for gain, is a brother to Judas.

— God will reverse the verdict which condemns a woman and acquits a man for the same sin.

— To be happy is of far less consequence to the worshipers of fashion than to appear so.—C. C. Colton.

— Simplicity is making the journey of this life with just baggage enough.—Charles Dudley Warren.

— Let us have faith that right makes might; and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it.—Abraham Lincoln.

— Well? Suppose life to be desert? There are halting places, and shades, and refreshing waters; let us profit by them for to-day.—Thackeray.

— Of all teachings, that which presents a far-distant God is the nearest to absurdity. Either there is none, or he is nearer to every one of us than our nearest conscientious self.—George Macdonald.

— I doubt whether the wisest of us know what our motives are, and whether some of the actions of which we are the very proudest, will not surprise us when we trace them to their source.—Thackeray.

— To have right notions and tempers with relation to this world is as essential to religion as to have right notions of God. And it is as possible for a man to worship a crocodile and yet be a pious man as to have his affections set on the world, and yet be a good Christian.—Law.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Carthage Blade: Rev. W. H. H. Lawhorn says that old Pratt, his buggy horse, is 27 years old and that he has driven him fourteen years and over 3,000 miles a year by his diary, making 42,000 miles. He drove him to Carthage Saturday and the horse was looking gay.

— Salisbury Sun: Mr. John W. Davis, who looks after the Southern's pumps on the Western, ran across a wooden-legged cow up in the mountains. The cow's right hind leg is off and her owner has replaced it with a wooden limb. The cow doesn't seem to notice the difference and goes on grazing and giving milk the same as ever.

— Roanoke Beacon: On Monday night last a crowd of negro swamp hands from Bull's Bay went to the bar-room of Mr. Sexton, near Creswell, this county, and got on a big drunk. In trying to quiet them Mr. Sexton was knocked down and given a fearful beating, which came near ending his life. They then smashed up and made a perfect wreck of the contents of the room. Sheriff Phelps was sent for and during Tuesday succeeded in arresting twelve of the mob, whom he brought up under guard Wednesday morning and lodged in jail.

— Asheboro Courier: Lightning struck the west gabel of Frank Bray's dwelling, near Enterprise, on July 17th, and tore off the weather boarding of the west end, and tore off the cealing of a room upstairs. It ran down, passing near the chimney, tearing it to pieces and completely demolishing a clock costing $17, tearing the hands and pendulum off, scattering the pieces over the room; also wrecking a sewing machine. Some of the pieces of the ceiling and clock were thrown against the glass of a bureau, breaking it in to storms.

— Newbern Journal: Thursday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, a peculiarly sad drowning occurred in Bogue sound, near Cedar Point, resulting in the loss of the life of Miss Katie Jones, a young girl of 15 years of age, who lived with her mother, Mrs. K. N. Bel', at Cedar Point. That afternoon Johnnie Jones, brother of Katie, and Miss Mamie Weeks took a boat and went to the sound, intending to go in bathing. The boat was run up on a shoal, and while they were in the water the boat went adrift. Johnnie went after it, telling the girls to stand still on the shoal. He gained the boat, and looking back he saw that they had moved and were up to the neck in deep water. In his haste to reach them he broke an oar, and making the best speed possible he reached the spot in time to grasp Mamie, but his sister Katie had disappeared from sight and nothing more was seen of her. The place was dragged for the body, but up to yesterday morning it had not been found.

— Statesville Mascot: Last Tuesday night, Revenue Agents Atwell, McCoy, and Sheck left town about 11 o'clock in chase of one J. F. Connell, of Charlotte, who had just departed in a wagon which the officers suspected of containing spirits. They came up with him near Mr. Scott Flemin's, and on driving by saw that the wagon was empty. Returning they found that the wagon had stopped, and when some distance away from it they were fired on twice. Messrs. Atwell and McCoy gave chase, and Connell took to the woods. Quite a bombardment ensued, Connell and the officers firing repeatedly at the flashes of each other's guns. Connell was chased a mile or more and finally captured. He was tried before Commissioner Cowles and committed to jail, where he languished for several days before he was able to give a bond of $300. Connell was shooting with a double barrel shot gun, and using number 6 shot. The officers bagged his gun and will use it as evidence.

MASTIC CLOTH WALKING COSTUME FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

A LATE gown of mastic cloth is made with a plain-sheath skirt and slashed peplum, ornamented only by rows of close stitching, this done in unbleached thread. The bodice is a tight-fitting Eton, seamed in the back and worn over a deep belt of pale brown taffeta. The front of the Eton is fitted to the figure by one deep dart, and closed down the centre of the front by two rows of brown silk-covered buttons. The wide revers are of mastic cloth of so pale a shade as to be hardly distinguishable from white. These are stitched with rows of silk, brown as the buttons that trim the front. The yoke is of deep taffeta, and is covered by a deep empiecement of rich yellow guipure. The high collar is made upon a similar foundation, the shape being preserved by thin white silk-covered wire, which also outlines the wide lace flaps that ornament the collar at the sides. The sleeves follow the general form of present-day sleeves in fitting closely to the arm with only a slight gathering at the elbow at the inside seam. This results in a sacquelike fulness which admits of free movement of the arm. The inside seam of the sleeve is left open almost to the elbow, the edges being finished by rows of stitching that serve to stay the buttons and button-holes that secure the sleeve from this point to the cuff.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

How Queer It Feels to View Ourselves In That Light.

"I had a strange experience at Cincinnati the other day," said a traveling man, chatting with some friends in his hotel lobby. "I had some time to kill and had dropped in at an afternoon vaudeville performance, where, as usual, they had the vitascope. One of the views was a remarkably good street scene in New York, taken on Broadway, near the corner of Thirtieth street. A tremendous crowd was surging down the pavement, and as the figures reached the foreground of the picture they became very large, at least life size.

"As I stared at the throng my eyes were suddenly riveted on a man and woman walking together and somewhat detached from the others. I cannot describe my shock of amazement when I recognized the man as myself and the woman as my wife. We were apparently absorbed in conversation, and, as we drew rapidly near, my wife seemed to call my attention to something across the street. I looked up and smiled, and, as I did so, we passed over the circular margin of the picture and vanished as swiftly as a dream.

"My heart was beating like a drum, and as I glanced at the apparition I had risen unconsciously from my seat. It seemed strange beyond expression, and I don't know how long I might have stood there transfixed if some one had not recalled me to earth by requesting me to sit down. The picture was taken last summer when my wife and I were visiting in the north, and gradually I recalled the exact incident.

"I remembered distinctly the day we walked down Broadway together and also that my wife called my attention to a comical baby crowing in the arms of a nurse at one of the windows of the Gilsey House. That was evidently when I glanced up and smiled. I looked older than I would have thought and also stouter. I tell you it gives one a queer feeling to see himself as others see him."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Spanish Rarebit.

A Spanish rarebit differs from the familiar Welsh sort chiefly in the use of an onion. Mrs. Lincoln's recipe calls for a large Spanish onion, to be peeled, sliced, scalded for five minutes and drained. Then into a chafing dish are put a tablespoonful of butter and the sliced onion, browned for ten minutes over the flame, before a half cup of milk and a cup of crumbled mild cheese are stirred in. Season well with salt and pepper. Just before serving add a beaten egg into which two tablespoonfuls of cream have been stirred.—New York Post.

Bear Meat Kept Three Years.

One of the interesting studies to persons who have never seen large quantities of game is a visit to a big cold storage plant where it is stored. In one place in New York city there is an old bear, as natural as when first killed, that has been in the cold storage for over three years. Every variety of wild game is represented in the big cold storage plant.

Pandora, so runs the myth, let all the ills of life out of her box to prey upon mankind, but shut the cover soon enough to prevent the escape of hope. Hope remains to every sufferer but it is only an ignis-fatuus unless it takes on some tangible form. The hope of recovery is treasured by every one who suffers from weak or bleeding lungs, obstinate and lingering cough, bronchitis or similar ailments, which, if neglected, or unskilfully treated lead on to consumption. That hope becomes a practical and tangible thing when it is based on the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Such a hope is reasonable because thousands of men and women emaciated and weakened by disease have been made sound and well by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery."

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter. All letters are carefully and considerately read and answered. Each letter is held as a sacred confidence and every answer is mailed in a plain envelope without any printing upon it. Write without fear and without fee.

"I was taken sick in July last year, and was not able to do any kind of work until November," writes Mr. Noel W. Orvin, of Langley, Aiken Co., S. C. "Had been coughing up small, hard lumps of phlegm for about a year before I was taken down. I then called on a doctor, who attended me for two months, and said that one-half of my left lung was gone, and advised me to leave my home (Charleston, S. C.), and go to the country, but did not say what sort of disease I had. I thought it was consumption, and wrote to you for advice. I took four bottles of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I sincerely believe has done me more good than all the other medicines I have ever taken."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets does not beget the pill habit.

— "No, I positively cawn't go wheeling any more," said Cholly. "Isn't it fashionable!" asked the vulgar person. "Naw. Just popular."—Indianapolis Journal.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, August 5.—After opening dull but steady at precisely last night's prices the cotton market displayed almost no signs of life. None of the commission houses appeared to have orders and the room element was indifferent. Business during the first hour was confined to a few scattering "evening-up" trades in three important positions. Nothing in the shape of influential news came to hand to break up the monotony. There were no cables from Liverpool — being closed in observance of the bank holidays. The crop information in evidence was meagre and indicated not the slightest change in affairs in the belt within the past twenty-four hours. The weather was hot and dry from coast to coast. Weekly statements from New England cloth markets were of the most reassuring character, noting large demand and well sustained prices. Futures closed dull, with prices net one to two points lower.

NEW YORK, August 5.—Cotton quiet; middling uplands 6½c.

Another Need.

Oh, science, mighty science,
You have told us wondrous things
Of the germs which bid defiance
To mankind, from serfs to kings!
From the carpet they are dusted,
They are floating in the air,
There is no place to be trusted—
You will find them everywhere.

And a haunting dread comes o'er us
As we learn of how they lodge.
They're behind us and before us,
And we meekly strive to dodge,
But in vain is all resistance.
Oh, for some sweet Lethean state,
Where, ignoring their existence,
We'd rush blindly to our fate!

Oh, science, mighty science,
You must make another stride
And invent a new appliance—
One that's needed far and wide—
With ingenious cog and ratchet,
Named with strange pedantic terms
Which will cause those who attach it
To forget about the germs!
—Washington Star.

UNCLE MART AND THE INJUN.

An Adirondack Guide's Tale of Aboriginal Unreliability.

"Never heard tell of my uncle, Mart Moody?" said the grizzled Adirondack guide from Long lake. "Well, Uncle Mart was about the biggest drunkard and liar in the county, but he was one of the best hunters in the state—a regular Ramrod, as you say. One time he goes up to my Aunt Minerva, that's his wife, and says:

"'Minerva, me and the Injun, Captain Sybell, are going out to get some meat.' 'All right,' says my aunt, 'but be careful, Martin, and don't let that heathen steal your clothes off your back.' Uncle Mart just laughed and said he'd be back soon; they was only goin down the lake a bit, and he could take care of the Injun. So off he goes, and the Injun, who was waitin for him in his canoe, sez: 'Hurry up, Mart; I tank thar was big deer in the water.' So they paddled down the lake slowly and never spoke a word till they got down by the ledge near the alders. Then the Injun looked at Uncle Mart and said, 'I tired,' and, taking his paddle out of the water, he knocked Uncle Mart's powder horn overboard, accidental like.

"Uncle Mart was mad as a hornet and says, 'You pesky Injun skunk, take care what you do.' But Captain Sybell said soft like, 'Don't ye car', Mart; I go down and get it.' With that he jumped overboard, and Uncle Mart laid back and thought of home and Aunt Minerva, who was a mighty fine woman. Blimeby it struck him that the Injun had been in the water a powerful long time. He calkilated it was nigh onto ten minutes or more, so he just looked over to see what he was doin, thinkin he might be drownded. What do ye think he saw down in the water? That there water was as clear as rum, and what do ye think he saw? Why, that there pesky Injun was a-settin on the bottom smilin and pourin the powder out of Uncle Mart's powder horn into his own. You can't trust Injuns."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Poser.

Passenger (on ocean liner)—Think we'll break the record, captain?

Captain (witheringly)—Well, do you suppose we are only running this ship to carry passengers and freight?—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Comparative Suffering.

Author—You have noticed, of course, that the suffering of the heroine is intended to be terrible in the first act.

Critic (who has just read the play)—Still it'll be as naught in comparison with the suffering of the audience along toward the last act.—Chicago News.

Compensation.

"I wonder why Mrs. de Style always wears a gown cut so very low in the neck."

"Well, you know she is a trifle weak as to ancestry."—Detroit Journal.

A writer in The Celestial Empire declares that the governor of the Kirin district in China beheads over 500 criminals every year, and yet brigandage continues a scourge of the province.

"Holland" is said to be an abbreviation of "hollow land."

Some Women Doubt

Many women think the bearing of children is a necessary period of great pain and distress. They doubt whether any medicine can relieve their sufferings. Well may they hesitate about taking those injurious internal mixtures so widely sold. But they may place implicit faith in which is a softening, relaxing and soothing liniment for external use. Doubting women should get a bottle at the drug store for $1, and test it. There is no possibility of its doing harm, and there is every likelihood of its saving them many hours of pain.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY.

Emperor Menelek of Abyssinia, so it is reported, is fitting himself for the work of a physician. He has been giving considerable attention recently to features of western civilization, but it is a little bit unusual for an emperor to take up the practice of a profession. The emperor is at present planning to build an immense hospital at Adis

MENELEK OF ABYSSINIA.

Aheda, the capital of his nation, and when it is completed he intends to assume entire control of its surgical department. He expresses astonishment at the skill of the surgeons, under whom he is training, and is most pleased when he can be of some service, such as holding a limb or a roll of bandages.

Loubet's Fine Decoration.

The grand master's collar of the order of the Legion of Honor, with which President Loubet was invested, is of finely wrought gold and is altogether a magnificent decoration, but very rarely assumed by the president. The order dates from Napoleon's consulate in 1802. It comprises four classes—viz, 80 grand crosses, 160 grand officers, 400 commanders and an unlimited number of officers and chevaliers. Unless by the exercise of authority on the part of the grand master or for some signal service to the state all holding the order begin as chevaliers and are not eligible until they have exercised with distinction for 20 years civil or military duties, or have done some important service to the state, or earned distinction in art or science. A chevalier must have held that grade for four years before he can become an officer; two years more are necessary before the grade of commander can be attained; a commander cannot become a grand officer under five years, and five years more are needed before a grand officer can become a grand cross. For military men years of war services count double.—London Chronicle.

An Unpopular Crown Prince.

The hostility of the people of Norway to the union between that country and Sweden has shown itself lately in several very unpleasant demonstrations. The unpopularity of the royal house which embodies the union is marked. Recently Crown Prince Gustaf, who was acting as regent during the illness of King Oscar, was snowballed in the streets of Christiania by a hooting, hissing mob. A later event shows that the hostile feeling is not confined to the class that usually makes up mobs. More than 60 members of the storthing declined an invitation to dine with Crown Prince Gustaf at the castle.

Tesla Has a Rival.

Tesla has a rival in the field of visionary invention in Jan Szczepanik, a prominent Polish electric specialist, now in Vienna. The rival has a record almost as extensive as Tesla's. It includes an electro magnetic appliance for the absolute prevention of railway collisions, an improved telephone system to carry the voice 5,000 miles and a wonderful weaving loom that will work automatically.

His latest is a device which is set in action simply by the effect of light. It is a bomb which contains an electric lamp in its interior mechanism so arranged that it causes the bomb to explode the instant a stream of light is thrown from the lamp.

A Remarkable Class.

Major General E. S. Otis is an alumnus of the University of Rochester, class of '58. This class, by the way, was a remarkable one. Nearly all the members attained distinction. Among those best known now living are Captain W. Harkness, LL. D., of the National observatory, Washington; the Rev. Dr. H. L. Morehouse, field secretary of the Home Mission society; the Rev. Dr. Cephas B. Crane of Boston, the Rev. Dr. Lemuel Moss of Philadelphia, the Rev. Dr. Jacob S. Gubelmann of Rochester Theological seminary, Professor Almon C. Bacone of the Indian university, Indian Territory, and W. O. Stoddard, the [illegible]list and historian.

The Manager Was Cute.

The crowd swayed toward the manager of the open air show.

"What did you mean by advertisin thet tight rope walker?" cried the spokesman.

"Just what I said," replied the unabashed manager.

"But the rope was laid on th' ground," cried the spokesman, "an your fraud of a ropewalker just walked on it a step or two! Do you call that tight rope walking?"

"Certainly!" shouted the manager. "The man was tight, wasn't he?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Balling Hill Roads.

They call it "bailing the hills" down in Aroostook county when they turn the road which has run over the top of a hill down around its base. It is like letting down the ball of a water pail, and the distance is no greater, while the journey is easier for either horse or mathematical professor.—Lewiston Journal.

Wellington After Waterloo.

Lady Mornington told me that when she went to see the Duke of Wellington after the battle of Waterloo and congratulated him he put his hands before his face and sobbed, saying: "Oh, don't congratulate me! I have lost all my best friends!"—Blackwood's.

An Italian doctor has discovered that there is in the common pineapple a substance similar to pepsin and that one pineapple is sufficient to digest ten pounds of beef.

Beggars are unknown in Melbourne. The poorest part of the city is the Chinese quarter.

THE TRAIN BELL CORD.

An Old Engineer Tells the Story of Its Invention.

In old cars the bell cord ran over the top and was wound on a reel, says Mr. George in "Forty Years on the Rail," and the brakeman had to climb up to the top of the cars, no matter how fast the train was running, to use the cord or adjust it in case of mishap. An old engineer of the Erie road tells how the bell cord was invented:

Sometimes the conductor wished to stop a train between stations, but as there was no means of letting the engineer know his wishes except by sending word by a brakeman, who had to climb and scramble over a dozen freight cars before he could attract the engineer's attention, there was often a vexatious delay.

"Pappy" Ayres, the pioneer Erie conductor, hit upon an expedient for signaling to the engineer. He tied a stick of wood to a long rope, hung the stick in the engine cab and carried the rope over the car tops to the rear of the train. His plan was to pull the rope and rattle the stick when he wished the train stopped.

The engineer of Conductor Ayres' train was conservative—"sulky," the conductor called him—and did not see fit to recognize such an innovation.

"Why didn't you stop the train when I pulled that rope?" thundered the conductor after a flagrant refusal to notice the stick of wood signal.

"'Cause no one told me to stop it," was the engineer's surly answer.

"Well, I tell you to stop it hereafter when I pull on that stick of wood," said the conductor. "If you don't"— He turned away muttering some sort of threat.

The very next run the conductor's vigorous pull on the rope was unheeded by the engineer. At the close of the day Conductor Ayres met the engineer with the words:

"See here! I've stood all the nonsense I'm going to! Just come out here, and I'll give you a good licking!"

There was fire in his eye, and the engineer, noting it, turned mild at once.

"All right," he answered amiably. "I'm willing to wrastle with ye, an if ye can throw me I'll notice any signal, if 'tain't more'n a bumblebee's buzzin, pervided ye can harness him so's to buzz when ye want the train stopped."

A wrestling match followed, in which "Pappy" laid the engineer low. The rope and stick worked to a charm after that and soon led to the introduction of the now universal bell and cord system of signaling.

"Wear a mask, madam."—New York World.

BAD BLOOD

CAUSES

Eruptions, Scrofula, Pimples, Boils, Eating Sores, Ulcers,

Cancer, Blood Poison, Ulcerated Mouth, Throat and Ears,

ERUPTIONS ON CHILDREN,

All Cured by Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) for Bad Blood.

SAMPLE BOTTLE FREE.

Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) is not a cure-all, but is made especially to cure all effects of Bad, Poisoned, Diseased Blood, especially the deep seated, persistent cases that refuse to heal under doctors' directions or the use of patent medicines, salves, sarsaparillas, etc. If these have disappointed you, don't give up hope, for Botanic Blood Balm has never failed to cure after all else fails. B. B. B. is different from any other blood remedy (there is no substitute for B. B. B.), because B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real trouble and fairly roots out and drives from the system the poison and humor that cause all above troubles, then the flesh heals and all the symptoms disappear and cannot return, because the first cause of all the trouble is entirely removed. Give B. B. B. a trial and you will be delighted with the effects, even of one bottle. That itching scab of eczema or salt rheum will disappear, the persistent pimple (the beginning, very often, of deadly cancer), will heal, blotches, eruptions and unsightly sores on the face will give place to a perfectly smooth skin, that running ulcer on the leg will, under the curative powers of B. B. B., first stop running, then heal as well as ever. Those scrofulous, eating sores, swollen glands, contagious blood poison or even deadly cancer, will get well, and you will thank the Blood Balm Co. for making such a wonderful medicine. Children and babies with eruptions, itching scales and sores are quickly healed and skin made smooth and perfect by the use of Botanic Blood Balm. We have absolute confidence in Botanic Blood Balm; hence we send to any sufferer who wishes to test it a sample bottle absolutely free. B. B. B. is an old, well-tried remedy, free from vegetable or mineral poisons, perfectly safe to take by old or young. People cured by B. B. B. 15 or 20 years ago are well to day and free from all blood impurities.

Rheumatism, Catarrh,

are deep seated Blood Diseases. B. B. B. drives out the specific poison in the blood that causes Rheumatism and Catarrh, so that the symptoms cannot return, and a cure is made that is perfect. All druggists sell B. B. B. at $1 per large bottle or 6 bottles (a full treatment) $5. For trial bottle address BLOOD BALM CO., 142 Mitchell St., Atlanta, Ga. Describe your symptoms and free personal medical advice will be given.

SAMOAN COMMISSION RETURNING FROM APIA.

All Quiet in Samoa—Scheme Adopted Under Which a White Governor Will be Appointed by the Powers.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 5.—The steamer Hong Kong Maru brings the following advices from Honolulu under date of July 29th:

"The United States ship Badger, bearing two of the three Samoan commissioners, arrived at this port Wednesday afternoon July 26th, eight days from Apia, on her way to San Francisco. On board are Hon. Bartlett Tripp, United States commissioner, and Baron von Sternberg, representative of Germany, Mr. C. N. E. Eliot, commissioner for Great Britain, sailed by Zealand and Australia for London to report directly to his government.

"The latter days of the commission's stay in Samoa were devoted to evolving a political organization that would be satisfactory to the Somoans and would work satisfactorily to all parties concerned under the tripartite treaty. A scheme was adopted. The members of the commission decline to state its particulars until it has been referred to their respective governments, but they have given out that Samoa will, in future, be ruled by a white governor appointed by the three powers, much as the chief justice is at present. There will be a native council or legislature, but the governor will have the veto power and the chief justice will be the final authority in the land, from whom there will be no appeal.

This arrangement met the approval of the Samoans. The day before the commission sailed delegations of thirteen men from each faction met on the Badger and signed the articles, thus officially approving the arrangement in the name of their respective chiefs, Mataafa and Malietoa.

When the commission sailed all was quiet, and seemed likely to remain so.

Residents of Samoa have filed with the commissioners claims aggregating $440,000 for the property destroyed during the recent temporary occupation of Mulinu by American and British sailors. The largest claim is from the Catholic Marist mission, $22,000, and is for the looting of the premises by natives upon instructions, it is said, of the British commander. Another is from a German firm, $19,000, for much the same reason. Other claims are from settlers, whose property was damaged in various ways.

SCHEME TO MAKE MONEY.

Miss Jewett, of Boston, and the Family of the Negro Postmaster Lynched Some Time Ago in South Carolina.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 5.—Lillian Clayton Jewett, the Boston girl who recently created a sensation among the negroes of that city, by declaring that she would come to Charleston and take back North with her the family of the late Frazier B. Baker, who was lynched at Lake City, S. C., in 1897, with a view to beginning an agitation against mob law, has carried out her design. Miss Jewett arrived here Friday morning, accompanied by her mother and a young man named R. G. Larsen, who is a Boston journalist. She had frequent conferences with the Baker woman and her friends, and as a result she left her for Boston this afternoon, accompanied by the entire Baker family. The mother and five children.

Miss Jewett said her plans for the future were not yet formulated but she proposed to hold mass meetings throughout the North to arpuse popular sentiment against lynching and mob law generally. She did not regard her movement as an issue between the races, but was advocating the cause of humanity, irrespective of color or condition. She said she was educated in Virginia and had some knowledge of the Southern people, and she was well aware that the better elements in the South joined heart and soul with the better element in the North in demanding a halt in the commission of the outrages that recently have shocked the world. She said that since her Boston address was made she had received many threatening letters from the South, but to these she paid no heed, knowing that they they did not come from a source worthy of serious consideration.

Miss Jewett paid for the tickets of the Baker family from here to Boston, and she also bought a number of small articles of clothing for the woman and her children.

The Rev. J. L. Dart, a colored minister of this city, who has recently spent some time in Boston, returned to the city to-day and opposed violently the removal of the Bakers from Charleston. He declared that Miss Jewett did not represent the better class of white or colored people in Boston. He says she and those who stand with her merely want to get control of the Bakers to make notoriety and money for themselves.

DEWEY AT NAPLES.

The Admiral in Good Health—Will Remain Eight or Ten Days.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

NAPLES, Aug. 5.—Admiral Dewey, who arrived here to-day from Trieste on board the United States cruiser Olympia, was visited by Mr. Lewis M. Iddings, secretary of the United States embassy at Rome; Mr. Richard C. Parsons, second secretary of the embassy; Mr. Hector de Castro, United States consul general here, and the vice consul, Mr. Chas. M. Wood. The admiral commanding this station, the commander of the garrison and the prefect also visited Admiral Dewey on the Olympia to-day, and the American admiral subsequently returned their visits. Forty American tourists afterwards visited the Olympia.

Admiral Dewey and the crew of the Olympia are all in good health. It is said the cruiser will only remain here eight or ten days.

The weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Surplus reserve, decrease $2,700,525; loans, decrease $6,428,600; specie, decrease, $3,837,600; legal tenders, decrease $1,922,800; deposits, decrease $12,239,500; circulation, decrease $180,000. The banks now hold $8,110,600 in excess of the requirements of the 25 per cent. rule.

TO MEET DEMAND FOR PAPER MONEY

Gold Certificates in Denominations of Twenty Dollars to be Issued.

TO AMOUNT OF TEN MILLIONS

Purpose Being to Meet the Pressing Need Throughout the Country for Currency for Movement of the Fall Crops. Gold Must be Deposited.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 5.—The Treasury Department to-day made requisition upon the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for the printing of ten million dollars gold certificates in denominations of twenty dollars each. The treasurer now holds a large unissued supply of certificates for the larger denominations. It is the evident intention of the Treasury Department to be in a position to issue gold certificates freely for gold coin, should the Fall movement of currency lead to a demand at the treasury for gold certificates in exchange for gold coin. It is to be noted that while gold coins can be freely had in denominations of fives and tens the law restricts the issue of gold certificates to denominations of twenty dollars or multiples thereof. It is a debatable question, therefore, whether gold certificates will adequately meet the demand for money of small denominations.

It is now apparent that for the Fall movement of the crops there will be a pressing demand for more currency or paper money. As this can be furnished in no other than by the issue of gold certificates, there will undoubtedly be a demand more or less great upon the treasury for such certificates against the deposit of gold coin.

To Meet Demand for Currency.

The sub-treasury at San Francisco has already been notified by wire to resume the issue of gold certificates on deposits of gold and in payment over the counter of government obligations. The other sub-treasuries have been notified to the same effect by letter which they will receive before business hours on Monday morning. The sub-treasurers have also been advised that the government will ship them an additional supply of gold certificates to-day of what is known as department series in denominations ranging from $20 to $1,000 and aggregating about $10,000,000. It is anticipated that the gold certificates most in demand will be what is known as "order certificates." These will be issued on request to individual depositors of gold, and in their own names, in sums ranging from $5,000 to $10,000 each. The government now has in its vaults between $88,000,000 and $90,000,000 in gold certificates of what is known as the "series of 1888," and these will be supplied on demand until those may be printed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It will be recalled that Secretary Carlisle suspended the issue of gold certificates by an order promulgated April 14th, 1893. His authority for so doing was contained in section 12 of the act of July 12, 1882, which made it obligatory upon the secretary of the treasury to suspend the issue whenever the gold reserve retained in the treasury should fall below $100,000,000. This question of resuming the issue of gold certificates which was suspended by Secretary Carlisle, has been under consideration by Secretary Gage for several months. He has given the question his best thought and it is believed secured the views of other leading financiers throughout the country before taking this step.

In Cleveland's Time

the gold reserve fell below $100,000,000, and the issue of gold certificates ceased under the direction of Secretary Carlisle. He held that the power of the department in the case lapsed when once the reserve was trenched upon, and yet certificates were afterwards issued for two brief periods and for small sums during his term.

Since the accession of President McKinley the subject has been under discussion in financial newspapers and among bankers, and inquiries have been addressed to the department and counsel tendered relative to the resumption of the issue. Secretary Gage has given much consideration to both the legal and business aspects of the proposition. It is understood that he has been advised that the issue of these certificates is an administrative measure which is wholly within his discretion.

The present call for paper money, it is said, is not due to any reduction of notes of any kind. The treasury has for a long period had only $20,000,000 for use in all its offices, and has been able to put out notes only in redemption or in exchange for other denominations. All the rest of the $845,000,000 in paper is in the hands of the banks, or the people, and in an unusual degree in the Northwest and the Southwest.

To Move the Crops.

Secretary Gage resumes the issue of gold certificates with the purpose of extending the aid of the government in moving the crops in any proper way that offers or is believed by prudent people to be helpful. Now that the department has gone to the limit of its power in this direction, it is insisted that banks and the people adjust themselves to the situation.

No gold certificates can, under the law, be issued for denominations less than twenty dollars. Treasurer Roberts directs attention to the fact that the demand for currency is in much the greater degree for smaller notes. By using gold certificates for twenty dollars and upward, the other kinds of paper can be turned more and more into denominations smaller, and this will give some relief. Gold coin can be used in five and ten dollars if popular prejudice will permit.

Treasurer Roberts places emphasis on the fact that for these certificates gold coin must be deposited in the treasury, absolutely dollar for dollar. The volume of currency, therefore, cannot receive any increment by this process. A certain fluidity, however, is added, since the certificates will be likely to be passed from hand to hand, and be shipped with greater facility.

Hope is expressed by treasury officials that since the vaults of the department at all its offices are already crowded, banks will turn in coin only for fair business reasons to secure currency for necessary use.

YELLOW FEVER SITUATION.

No New Cases and No Deaths Yesterday at the Soldiers' Home—No New Cases in Phœbus Reported.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

HAMPTON, VA., August 5.—There are absolutely no new developments in the situation at the Soldiers' Home. "No new cases and no deaths" was to day's report, and a general impression prevails in this section that all danger of the epidemic getting outside the home has passed.

The official statement to be issued to-morrow from the hospital is now being made up, and will state that since the discovery of the disease in the home, one week ago, there have been forty two cases and eleven deaths.

In Phœbus no new cases have been reported, and the only case thus far reported is improving.

The garrison from Fort Monroe, consisting of Batteries C, G and N, Fourth Artillery, under Col. Gunther, sailed to-day at 4 P. M. on the transport McClellan for Plum Island, in Lond Island sound.

Situation Re-assuring.

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Surgeon General Wyman of the Marine Hospital Service late to-night received a telegram from Dr. Vickery, of the Hampton Soldiers Home, in which he said that the epidemic seemed limited. No new cases developed to-day and only one death occurred last night. Surgeon Wasdin, the yellow fever expert, also telegraphed Dr. Wyman to the same effect. He had conferred with Mr. McMahon and Colonel Smith, of the Home board of managers, and all agreed that the situation was re-assuring. The inmates of the home are being removed to tents and the barracks thoroughly disinfected.

Dr. Wyman has ordered Surgeon Donaldson to begin a town to town inspection along the railway line from Newport News to Richmond, to locate and keep under observation any parties from the neighborhood of the infected area to whom suspicion might reasonably attach.

In a letter to Surgeon General Sternberg, dated January 20th last, the distinguished Brazilian physician, Dr. J. B. de Lacerda, of Rio de Janeiro, says: The serum of Dr. Sanarelli has failed here in Brazil. The experiments made at San Paulo have not been favorable to the use of this serum. It is neither preventative nor curative.

FOUL PLAY IS SUSPECTED.

Body of H. S. Ellerbee Torn to Pieces by a Railroad Train Near Marion, South Carolina.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 5.—Herbert S. Ellerbe, thirty years old, and youngest brother of the late Governor Ellerbe, was either killed and his body put on the railroad track or killed accidentally by the south-bound vestibule train in Marion county, this State, last Thursday night. The body was torn all to pieces, and different bones and pieces of flesh were found along the track for many miles. None of the clothing was found except the coat, which contained a five dollar bill, and the trousers, which were found on the engine when the train reached Charleston.

In support of the theory that there was foul play, no sign of blood in any quantity has been found along the railroad track, and it is claimed that if the body had been alive at the time it was struck by the train there must have been a great effusion of blood. The young man stood high in Marion county and there are many who believe that his death was not accidental.

DOMINICAN REVOLUTION.

Sudden Departure of Gen. Jiminez and His Followers From Havana.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

HAVANA, August 5.—General Jiminez, accompanied by six Cubans and four natives of Santo Domingo, is believed to have left here this afternoon for the Dominican republic. It has not yet been ascertained how the party left, but if, as it is thought, they went on one of the Herrera Line steamers for the north coast, expecting to obtain a schooner at Neuvitas, they will probably be arrested, or prevented from continuing their journey.

General Jiminez claimed to be ill yesterday, but the many visitors whom he received this morning led to the belief that some movement was on foot. One thing only is certain, and that is that he has gone, taking his baggage with him, as did also his companions.

The authorities are making a close investigation in order to discover in which direction the party went.

ATLANTA'S MAYOR.

City Council Threaten Impeachment Unless He Resigns by Monday Next.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, August 5.—On a vote of seventeen to three the resignation of Mayor Jas. G. Woodward, of this city, was asked for at a secret caucus of the city council and board of aldermen held this afternoon.

Mayor Woodward was charged with drunkenness several weeks ago when impeachment proceedings were threatened. At that time the mayor promised to reform, but it is now charged that he has broken faith with the city council. According to the resolution the resignation must be in by Monday morning, and upon failure it is probable impeachment proceedings will be instituted.

At the caucus it was intimated by Councilman Parks that persons who wanted certain measures passed, to which it was known Mr. Woodward was opposed, were behind his conduct.

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED.

A Small Row Boat Capsized On Patapsco River.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, August 5.—Five persons were drowned early this morning by the capsizing of a small row boat in the northwest branch of the Patapsco river, near this city. Their names are: Andrew Deems, William J. Lyman, James Welsh, Edward Garrick, Mrs. Hoover. The party was returning from a day's outing at a pleasure resort and from the statement of Mrs. Deems the only survivor, were skylarking in the skiff, when it capsized. All went into the water and appear to have sunk immediately except Mrs. Deems, who clung to the overturned boat until rescued by policeman James Kidwell, who swam out to the boat and assisted her to land. The woman's husband and daughter were among those drowned. The bodies have been recovered.

DREYFUS DRAMA ABOUT TO BEGIN.

Journalists, Witnesses and Other Actors From All Parts of the World

ARE ASSEMBLING AT RENNES

Cafes Full of People Discussing the Coming Trial—Anti-Dreyfusard Agitators Hold Meetings—Police Take Measures to Insure Peace.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

RENNES, August 5.—Rennes has awakened from its normal condition of sleepiness and with the arrival of hundreds of journalists from all parts of the world, and witnesses and other actors in the Dreyfus drama, the town is assuming an animated appearance. The terraces in front of the cafes are full of people warmly discussing the coming trial, which will open at half-past six or seven o'clock Monday.

General Mercier, who was minister of war when Dreyfus was condemned, arrived from Paris this afternoon. His face showed an anxiour, care-worn look. A large number of persons had gathered on the platform at the railway station to witness his arrival, but no notewsrthy incident occurred.

The leading event of the day was the arrival of the hero of the Dreyfus affair, Lieutenant Colonel Georges Picquart. His train arrived at 7 o'clock this evening, an hour late, and only a few people were present at the station except detectives and police officials. As Colonel Picquart entered the carriage which Maitre Labori, counsel for Captain Dreyfus, had waiting for him in the station yard, some of the spectators shouted: "Vive Picquart," and "Vive Dreyfus."

The shouts elicited counter cries at "A bas Picquart" and "A Mort, A L'Fau" from the few anti-Dreyfusites present. But the bark of the latter was worse than their bite, for not the slightest attempt was made to carry out the threats, which Colone Picquart utterly ignored.

Anti-Dreyfusard Agitators.

The authorities are apparently becoming anxious regarding the maintenance of tranquility in Rennes during the trial, owing to the invasion of the town by a crowd of anti-Dreyfusard agitators, and heroic police measures were taken this evening to insure peace during a couple of opposition meetings which were quite private. A small number of people assembled in the neighborhood of the house in which the meetings were held and this led the authorities to mobilize in the locality a force of policemen on foot, mounted gendarmes and a swarm of detectives, who closed the streets in the vicinity, though there was not the slightest sign of disorder.

Cards of admission to the trial were issued this afternoon to the representatives of the press, every two foreign correspondents, without exception, receiving one card between them, which means that the leading papers of the world outside of France will be able to be represented only every other day.

Captain Dreyfus will be conducted to the new court room in the Lycee, which faces the military prison across the broad Avenue de La Gare, every morning and return in the evening between a double row of gendarmes.

Preparing for the Trial.

Workmen have been busy to-day fitting up the Salle Des Fetes in the Lycee for the trial, and the installation of benches, desks, etc., is already practically completed. A large crucifix has been brought from the military chapel and hung behind the seats of the judges, which are placed on the stage. As the Salle Des Fetes is really a theatre, the proscenium has been left untouched and will form a frame for scenes of the trial.

HAYTI IN A FERMENT.

U. S. Minister Powell Cables That a Warship May be Required to Protect the United States Legation.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Hayti is in a state of ferment, perhaps from sympathy with the neighboring state of Santo Domingo. United States Minister Powell has cabled the State Department that the presence of a United States warship may be required if the present threatenings continue, to insure the safety of the United States legation and consulates.

The department is closely watching developments and has been in communication with the Navy Department on the subject, ready to dispatch orders at short notice to Commanders Longnecker and Logan of the New Orleans and Machias, respectively. These vessels are now at Santo Domingo, only half a day's sail from Port-Au-Prince, and will, it is believed, be quite sufficient to meet the minister's needs.

DIED AT CAPON SPRINGS.

Dr. J. S. Lawrence, a Prominent Business Man of Charleston, S. C.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 5.—Word was received here this afternoon from Capon Springs, W. Va., of the death of Dr. J. S. Lawrence, president of the Charleston Consolidated Railway and Gas Electric Company. Dr. Lawrence was the projector and first president of the trolley road and also of the Seashore Line to Sullivan's Island and Isle of Palms.

He was a native of this State and lived North some years and was well known in financial circles at Baltimore and Washington. He came to Charleston about four years ago and gave this city the finest electric system in the South. His health was impaired by overwork and he succumbed to congestion of the brain this afternoon. He was universally admired in Charleston for his genius, integrity and untiring interest in all undertakings. The funeral will be in Charleston Tuesday.

FIRST BALE OF NEW COTTON.

Shipped to Charleston From Barnwell County, S. C., by Col. L. W. Youmans.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 5.—Colonel L. W. Youmans, a prominent farmer of Fairfax, Barnwell county, shipped to Charleston to-day the first bale of this season's cotton crop yet sent to market.

Seventeen persons were killed and thirty-seven injured in a collision on the Orleans railway at Juvisy, France. The disaster was the result of imperfect signalling.

AGAINST THE UNITED STATES

France and Germany Working for the Formation of An European Union. Russia a Party.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, August 5.—Whatever fanciful reasons are offered for the visit of the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Delcasse, to St. Petersburg, it is safe to say it has reference to the present unsettled condition of European politics. The appearance of the United States as a world power is primarily responsible for this disturbance, and there are repeated signs of latent friction between Germany and the United States, the latest being Admiral Dewey's alleged warlike statements, which give European statesmen cause for uneasiness and are regarded as the motive for Emperor William's overtures for a rapprochment with France. France is still smarting under the humiliation of the Fashoda affair, and is inclined to meet Emperor William if once convinced that the Russian alliance has no real value. The primary object of M. Delcasse, is to get public evidence that the alliance holds good by persuading the Czar to visit the Paris exhibition of 1900, and also by personal contact with the Russian court and statesmen to ascertain to what extent the alliance may be relied on.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 5.—M. Delcasse's visit causes great satisfaction in Russian diplomatic circles, as it has long been hoped he would attest the solidity of the Franco-Russian alliance by a visit here. He had a long interview to day with the Russian minister of foreign affairs, Count Muravieff, with whom he dined in company with a number of Russian ministers.

The French foreign minister will visit the Czar at Peterhoff to morrow.

LONDON, August 5.—The Vienna correspondent of the Observer telegraphs:

The Neue Freie Presse states that M. Delcasse's visit to St. Petersburg is connected with future plans concerning all the powers of the dual and triple alliances. Prince Hohenlohe, it is said, made definite proposals to M. Delcasse, who approved them, but desires to gain Count Muravieff's assent. The proposals include the formation of a European union against the United States.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Trial, Conviction and Sentence of a Member of the Order.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

INDIANAPOLIS, August 5.—The Supreme Tribunal, Knight of Pythias, which has been in session in this city several days, to-day concluded the trial of the memorable case of Thos. G. Sample, Supreme Chancellor, against Henry Wellenboss. The Supreme Tribunal found Wellenboss guilty of all the charges of violation of obligations and the breaking of Pythian law, and sentenced him to suspension from all rights and privileges of the order for a period of two years.

NEW CARPETS

THEY ARE ARRIVING, MANY HAVE COME IN, AND OTHERS TO FOLLOW.

OUR BUYER having visited the markets early, has shown exceptionally good taste in CAREFULLY SKIMMING and accepting none but the Pure and Unadulterated Cream.

AXMINSTERS, - VELVETS, - TAPESTRIES,

EXTRA SUPERS and AXMINSTER ART SQUARES. THE ART SQUARES

Are something very artistic in design and made of best goods, and are well worthy of your consideration. The Carpets are most exquisite in effects, and those who have homes to furnish will make a mistake by not seeing them before making their purchase.

An invitation is extended to all, to call and inspect the stock.

The best work guaranteed and promptness is a characteristic of the house.

Yours, truly,

A. D. BROWN,

aug 6 tf Agent for "Her Majesty's" Corsets and Butterick's Patterns.

FOR SALE.

THE KING GROCERY CO.

offer for sale their entire business, consisting of Good Will, Stock, Fixtures, Horses and Wagons. If buyer prefers, will sell Stock and Fixtures without Horses and Wagons. They are now doing a three thousand dollar business per month, and it has steadily increased since they began in 1897. The business is profitable, and it is EVERY CENT CASH. The manager can give satisfactory reasons for selling.

WHOSE HEAD

Aches? Yours? If so, what is the cause? Does a little worry or over work bring that tight, sore, uneasy aching sensation at the base of the brain just back of the ear? Have you ever thought it might be due to your eyes? Could we convince you by relieving it with Glasses? This is one of the "eye headaches" so common with those having pronounced refractive errors. Proper Glasses will correct the defect. The cause removed the effects disappear.

DINGELHOEF BROS., OCULO OPTICIANS,

PARLOR NO. 123. MARKET STREET.

ODDS AND ENDS

Are around our front door to close out. We accumulate during the season lots of them, and the way I keep my large stock of goods fresh and clean and worth a hundred cents at all times, I have twice a year Clearing Sales.
